Background and objectives

The 15th International Symposium is planned to be organized by the Students Scientific Association „Mechanik”, Students Chemical Scientific Association and Students Council of Chemical Faculty of the Gdansk University of Technology on 16-19 May 2012.

All our academic friends– university students, PhD students and graduates of different faculties of chemical and mechanical engineering from Poland and abroad - are being encouraged to take part in the Symposium. We are looking forward to seeing excellent projects and research presented by students and young engineers. The aim of the Symposium is to give a chance to young people to present their achievements in an atmosphere of casual and friendly discussion and compare their results. The Symposium jury formed by academic staff members will assist all presentations.

The following principle subject matter of the Symposium is offered:

- Advanced Machine Design and Manufacturing Processes,
- Operation, Maintenance and Diagnostics of Machines,
- Materials Engineering,
- Heat Engineering,
- Production Process Automation and Control,
- Production Engineering and Management.
- Chemical Engineering
- Remediation Technologies
- New and Proecological Materials
- Crystal Engineering
- Synthesis and Research on Bioactive Compounds
- Environmental Analysis and Monitoring
- New Technologies in Food Industry

Papers

The official language of the Conference will be English. All abstracts and papers should be written and presented only in English. Best papers will be rewarded but all will be published in the symposium materials.
